The Democratic Tickets will be printed this week The Candidates can be supplied at any time after Friday next.

To our Readers.

Since we assumed control of this paper, we have met with so many obstacles, so many disappointments, that we have been unable to issue our paper regularly. At first we were disappointed in receiv ing paper, and when we had made arrangements in regard to that, two of our hands left us at a time when we most needed them, and when we had great difficulty in getting others. We were thus prevented from issuing a paper last week. But we are fairly started again, and if attention, and labor, and punctuality can atone for our past disappointments they

Our subscribers shall lose nothing by the irregularity spoken of. Every one of them shall have fifty-two numbers for their money.

All the signs on the political horizon indicate that the Whigs of New-Jersey are going to repeat a performance native to the genius and familiar to the experience of that distinguished bodythey are going to make look of themselves. They are prepared apparently to insist that their party is alive, when it is dead, and ought long since have been decently buried and forgotten; and they are about to make a tremendous stand for preserving their organization, when in truth they ny mistry disorganized. And as if to prove the their proceedings are merely of a postmortem as terre, they intend to play maif monopoly and half temperance, and the end of it will be that they will nominate somebody whom neither anti-manopolistsmar temperance men will have faith in. and that the candidate of their opponents will be elected. This result we may set down as not s probable, but as under the circumstances iffedy to do permanent harm. In the first place it will finally dispense with the question whether there is a Whig party in the State, or not, and cuancipate a good many worthy people from the duty of throwing away their votes. It will thus clear the field for the more important mor, and prevents from sweeping the State. Owing to this infatuation, the whole auti-mo nopoly and temperance strength cannot be fro t into nation just yet, but when it is dissolved New-Jersey will pass through a most beneficent revolution. The politicians are already alarmed as the cover of the temperance feeling, and in the Since the beginning of the present year the case of the Whigs, will, as we have stated above
